Ethos & Aims: At the Walmer Road School we believe every child has the opportunity to realise his or her full potential.
Full potential means both academic and personal development. We aim to provide:

- A GCSE curriculum
- An effective and meaningful PSHE/citizenship
programme
- Access to impartial and youth targeted careers
advice
- Work experience opportunities which enrich and develop a student's understanding of employment issues
- An atmosphere of respect for the person and respect for learning

Student admissions/discipline and exclusions: At Walmer Road School we provide all parents and carers with details of our policies relating to admission of students, behaviour expected from students when attending the school and our process of maintaining order (see Walmer Road School behaviour policy).

These documents are important for the health and order of the School and also for allowing parents/carers and students to understand our intentions.

There is no directed religious aim within the Walmer Road School as we recognise that students may come to us from a variety of cultures and faiths. However, we are ardently committed to deepening our students understanding of other cultures and faiths in line with a broad development or appreciation of faith issues in the 21st century.

Induction: All students and parents/carers receive an induction and an induction pack to Walmer Road School. This process and the availability of the pack information enables all participants an opportunity to comment and question our intentions and methods.

Feedback: We welcome feedback from all stakeholders (parents/carers, students, LEA. Schools and funders). In order to ensure we continue to provide effective education, we need to hear your voice.

Please, in the first instance contact the Head of the School to discuss any ideas or issues you may have.

Complaints: We have a complaints policy and all complaints received will be dealt with quickly in line with the policy. We have had no complaints to date.

Statemented students: We currently have no statemented students.
